

WHAT IF ...

THE COMMUNITY
 was stronger because you helped individuals find work?

Unemployment leads to social issues like homelessness, hunger, and crime – the combination of which spirals individuals into poverty. Here's how you can help:

Join a worldwide network of churches, businesses, and organizations addressing the devastating impact of joblessness in their communities.

Jobs for Life provides proven tools communities can use to train men and women on how to find and keep a job. Churches and organizations lead a 16-session class where individuals learn soft skills, learn about God's design for work, develop character, and receive a supportive community through mentorship. The result is employed citizens capable of providing for their families, businesses having access to a well-trained workforce, and churches creating sustainable change in their communities through work and the Gospel.

“Businesses need to be engaged in transforming a community. You can't do it with drive-bys. You can't do it with a $250 check for a book bag drive or by serving a meal once a year. You have to do it by walking with the people in a community, by standing shoulder-to-shoulder with those in the community that are involved in making change.”
